Dear |FNAME|,

In this month's newsletter, we review how various jurisdictions are regulating the growing sector of online games of skill and chance played for real money. Authorities must weigh the best ways to protect players and data, ensure fair play, avoid conflicts of interests, and more.

Blockchain has a role to play in managing these games and ensuring level playing fields and outcomes based on player decisions and abilities. This month's articles explore regulatory issues, proposals, and trends in real-money gaming in the United Kingdom, the United States and Canada.

In other news, I will be MC-ing GamesBeat's "Into the Metaverse" conference on January 27 and 28. See the information below on how to register for the free event.

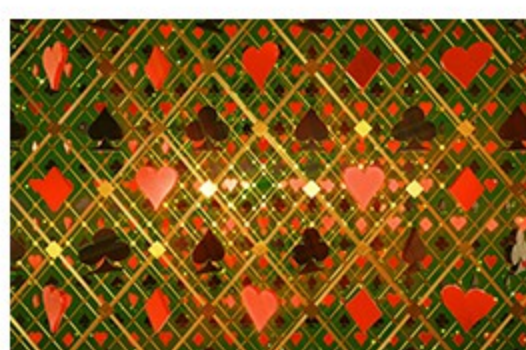

Wishing you every success for the new year.

Best regards,

David B. Hoppe
